February 2022

Reflections

Scott is good friend, and classmate, from high school. He loves the beach, and therefore the sun. He recently posted on Face Book that beginning February 8, the sun sets after 6:00 pm and will continue to set after 6:00 pm until November 6, 2022. Of course, that means each day for several months there will be more and more light. I'm sure there is some place to look up the setting sun schedule, but I'll take Scott's word for it.

With February being African American History Month, Scott's observation got me to thinking about a well known quote from the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.:

"Darkness cannot drive out darkness!

Hate cannot drive out hate!

Only love can do that!"

I was told by a pilot, who flies small planes, that his first night time flight was from Saginaw, Michigan to Atlanta Georgia. He had to stop about halfway for fuel. Lexington was halfway and had the cheapest fuel. It was in the middle of the night, no moon, most of the stars were hidden, and the rural area was dark. He realized easily he could have lost all sense of direction in the darkness. He radioed air traffic control at the Lexington airport and asked for some additional help in landing. He said they were extra ordinarily helpful. He has long remembered that night and the air traffic control agents that helped him.

Darkness can be a symbol for many things—pandemic, war, chaos, hunger, inadequate shelter, emotional or physical abuse, addictions, loneliness, diseases that whither the body or mind away, and the list goes on and on...including hate—which may be at the root of, not all, but many experiences of darkness. There is a lot of darkness in our world today. Some of the darkness is beyond our control. Prayer for light may well be the best way for us to address it. However, in many experiences of darkness, you and I have a great deal of opportunities to work toward change.

Light, on the other hand, is a symbol of hope, new beginnings, a new day, even new life. Light causes trees and flowers to grow and bloom. Light enables us to see where we are going. Even the smallest light on a dark night can calm our fears and lessen our anxiety. And, often traveling with a smaller light can lead us to more light—like switching from parking lights to high beam headlights on a dark night. And, love is always a source of emotional and spiritual light. Just as light will drive out darkness, love will overcome hate.

Even though each day in the coming months will only bring a few minutes of additional light—it will be cumulative, more light and more light, day after day. I challenge you to think of these additional moments of light as additional opportunities to express your love, each day—for God, for others and for yourselves. Such a cumulative amount of love could change your life.

Tomorrow, says my friend Scott, will be a brighter day!

Peace,

John

P.S. One way you can bring light into darkness, is to bring non-perishable foods for our Back Pack Ministry.
